MILITANT SENTENCED TO SIX MONTHS TODAY

MISS MAY RICHARDSON, DES-POILER OF PAINTING, CON-VICTED IN LONDON

CHARGES MURDER OF MRS. PANKHURST

Says Militants' Actions Are Necessary to Stop Premeditated Slow Murder of Their Leader.

(By the Associated Press)

London, Mch. 12—Miss May Richardson, the militant suffragette who on Tuesday hacked the famous painting, Rokeby Venus, in the National art gallery in London, was today convicted by a jury and sentenced to six months in prison. She has been on a "hunger strike" ever since her arrest and her precarious condition of health is probably the reason for the hurried trial.

She told the presiding judge that "the slow and premeditated murder of Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, militant leader, by the government, made necessary the recent acts of she and her followers. The nation seems to be dead or asleep, for we women have knocked vainly at the doors of the officers and even the king himself."

The judge said to the prisoner: "If the picture you mutilated were destroyed no amount of money could replace it" and Miss Richardson asked the judge in reply: "Do you realize that no money can replace Mrs. Pankhurst? She is being slowly killed."

MAD RUNAWAY ON BRIDGE TODAY

FOUR VEHICLES DAMAGED AND ONE DRIVER HURT IN AFFRAY.

J.B. SIDES OF WOOSUNG HURT

Was Driver of Pair of Greys Which Ran Away and Struck Four Buggies.

J. B. Sides of Woosung and Jos. Covert, Walter Johnson and Henry Decker and daughter Bessie of this city had narrow escapes from injury in a mad runaway on the Galena avenue bridge at 11 o'clock this morning, only miraculous good fortune saving them from personal damage in the flight which resulted in the breaking of three buggies and heavy wagon.

The fine gray horses, owned by John Knagle, furnished the excitement when they started to run away after the breaking of the harness allowed the tongue of the wagon to which they were hitched, to fall at the corner of Fellows street and Galena avenue.

Tongue Hits Legs.
The pole, striking them on the legs as it scraped along the pavement, maddened the horses and it was only by the greatest effort that Mr. Sides kept the horses in the road. They dashed south and just before reaching the bridge the wagon caught the rear wheel of Joseph Covert's light buggy despite his efforts to get out of the way. He was thrown out and his buggy badly damaged, while the horses continued to the bridge.

They next struck Abt's meat delivery wagon, driven by Walter Johnson, and he too was thrown to the bridge, while the light wagon was badly broken. Near the center of the bridge the runaways overtook Henry Decker and his daughter, who were driving south in a closed buggy. Mr. Decker made an effort to pull the team out and around this buggy and partially succeeded.

Horse Fell Down.

The rear wheel of the wagon however, caught a rear wheel of the Decker vehicle and for an instant indications were that the result would be serious. However, the broken tongue caught in one of the horses down and pitching the wagon box and Mr. Sides out. While this resulted in Mr. Sides' receiving bruises and sprains, especially to his legs, it undoubtedly saved the occupants of the Decker buggy from serious injury.

As it was, this vehicle was damaged considerably, as were the others with which the runaway collided but Mr. Sides was the only one to receive painful hurts. One of the horses, the one which fell, was badly cut about the legs.

DIXON'S NEW BANK IS SPLENDID ONE

MARVEL OF BEAUTY AND MAGNIFICENCE WILL BE OPEN FOR INSPECTION.

UNSURPASSED IN STATE

Wonderful New Structure Will Be Greatest Credit to City for Many Years to Come.

On Saturday evening the new $100,000 building erected for the home of the Dixon National bank will be open for the inspection of the public and the people of Dixon and vicinity will be privileged to view as splendid a bank building and banking rooms as are to be found in this state, outside of Chicago, and equal to any. The bank will move from its old quarters in the Schuler building this week and will open for business in the new building, on the site formerly occupied by the Crabtree block, corner of First St. and Galena Ave., on Monday.

The splendor of marble, mahogany and bronze in banking rooms and throughout the building is unsurpassed. The bank is surely a great credit to this city and sets a high standard for fast growing Dixon. When this city reaches the 20,000 mark, which it will ere long, the Dixon National bank will be the greatest show place we have.

Through a sturdy and conservative growth wrought of careful and well planned transaction the Dixon National bank has realized a new and beautiful home situated in the heart of the business center of Dixon.

In design and construction the building is one of the finest bank buildings in this territory, embracing every modern and safe-guarding contrivance adapted to a structure of the kind.

The bank proper occupies the entire first floor, sufficient space to provide every convenience for clients and the transaction of its affairs.

Rooms for Women.

A room has been furnished for the exclusive use of women; for use as a writing, retiring and rest room. It is equipped with every convenience and the bank officials extend a cordial welcome to all women, both customers and otherwise, to make unlimited use of the accessories.

Customers' Room.

The room for exclusive use of clients and safety box lessees is equipped with telephone service and every other facility applied to the bank and otherwise.

Two closed booths, in which contents of safety boxes may be examined in private, form part of this room.

Vault Security.

The vault equipment is the finest that money, mechanical engineering and inventive genius can produce. Two vaults have been installed, one for cash and books and the other embracing the safety deposit boxes. They are of all inch boxes, of chrome and manganese steel overlapping, and are enclosed in 18-inch concrete walls reinforced with steel bars embedded in the concrete. This is the best possible construction. The doors are massive, of solid steel, each weighing about two tons, protected by two inch bolts and checked by triple time locks. The money safe inside the vault is of the same construction, four inches thick, the whole weighing about five tons. The door of the safe is protected by a triple time lock and the cash is further protected by inner doors with combination locks.

W. J. McAlpine of Dixon is the contractor to whom the credit for constructing the building belongs. The architect is N. Max Dunning of Chicago. The officers of the bank:

J. C. Ayres, president.
S. S. Dodge, vice president.
A. P. Arrington, cashier.
M. R. Forsyth, assistant cashier.

PRIEST IN ADDRESS ON THE WET AND DRY

REV. PATRICK MURPHY SPOKE TO LARGE CROWD AT OPERA HOUSE.

PREDICTS A DRY STATE

Father Murphy Says Half of Illinois Saloons Will Get Out at Election This Year.

Rev. Patrick Murphy, the Texas Catholic priest, who has been styled "The Irish Whirlwind," lived up to his reputation last evening when he addressed a packed house at the Dixon opera house.

Representative John P. Devine introduced Father Murphy as one of the great men of Texas, a man who has bled and is willing to die for the cause of temperance.

Rev. F. D. Stone of the local M. E. church addressed the audience before the main address of the evening. Rev. Stone had envelopes passed through the audience and made an appeal to the "drys" to subscribe to the campaign fund. He predicted an energetic campaign for a "dry" Dixon this spring, and stated that everything possible would be done to get the women voters out on election day.

Father Murphy opened his address by thanking the management of the opera house for its courtesies in calling attention to the Paulist Choir, which will appear in Dixon on March 21st and which he styled as one of the greatest attractions that can be seen or heard, and advised all to attend.

The reverend gentleman next took up the subject of his credentials, as he said there were some who doubted that he is a real priest, but he told them of his record in a way to convince all that he is genuine.

The priest said that he had been brought up by his mother and father to hate two things, the British flag and whisky, which he characterized as the two greatest enemies of the Irish race. He stated that there is an erroneous idea that Catholics cannot vote and work dry and comply with the rules of their church, and that every Catholic in the United States is free to work against saloons if he or she feels like it. He took for his subject of the evening, "The Great Internal Enemy." Said Father Murphy: "There is not in the United States tonight any man of much intelligence who does not believe in God, and there is not in the United States tonight any man who will deny God's right to make laws for the protection of His people. It would be well to settle any great question where a moral issue is involved by asking, is it right or against the law of God?"

Father Murphy said the Czar of Russia and the Emperor of Germany are leading the fight against the saloons in Europe. He declared that "if the drys lose it is because the decent people are too blamed busy to get out and vote." He predicted that one-half of the saloons in Illinois, outside of Chicago, will be voted out on April 7th.

At the close of his lecture last night Father Murphy placed $25 in cash in the hands of the Local Option committee to be offered to the young men and women of Dixon as a prize for the best essay on "Why Dixon Should Vote Dry."

The competition to be open to all young men and women in the city between the ages of 16 and 30.

To consist of not over 1000 words.

To be in the hands of the Local Option committee on or before March 25. The best three will be selected by judges, and these three read or printed. From these the judges will select the best one and the writer will receive $25 in cash.

The prize will be known as the "Father Murphy Prize."

Any young people desiring further information can secure it from the Local Option committee.

WE HAVE FAITH IN THIS STOMACH REMEDY

A woman customer said to us the other day, "Say, you ought to tell everyone in town about Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets. I would myself if I could." That set us to thinking. They contain Bismuth and Pepsin, two of the greatest digestive aids known to medical science. They soothe and comfort the stomach, promote the secretion of gastric juice, help to quickly digest the food and convert it into rich, red blood, and improve the action of the bowels. We believe them to be the best remedy made for indigestion and dyspepsia. We certainly wouldn't offer them to you entirely at our risk unless we felt sure they would do you a lot of good. SEES VOTING BY MAIL

Bryan Hopes New Plan Will Be Adopted.

Declares Citizens, Though Absent, Are Entitled to Cast Their Ballots at Election.

Annapolis, Md., March 12.—Secretary of State William Jennings Bryan said he hoped that not only would this country borrow the initiative and referendum as it had borrowed the Australian ballot, but that in time it would adopt the postal vote.

The postal vote of New Zealand allows a citizen, though away from home, to cast his vote on an election day and have it counted.

The occasion of Mr. Bryan's statement was an address he made on the initiative and referendum before the Maryland legislature. A bill providing for the measure is pending.

Besides Governor Goldsborough and the members of the legislature many persons from all over the state were present.

Mr. Bryan said he believed there was more "virtue in the people" than ever found expression in their representatives. A representative, the secretary said, should not violate his conscience either in public or private matters, and when he felt that he could not do what his constituents wanted him to do he should return his commission.

"I believe the crime of misrepresentation is greater than private embezzlement," said Mr. Bryan. "And when you get misrepresentation your officeholder can laugh at you while he is drawing a salary from the treasury and doing as he pleases."

"You need not be afraid to change your opinion on the question of the initiative and referendum," Mr. Bryan concluded. "President Wilson changed his opinion and was not ashamed. He said he had been teaching the students at Princeton that the initiative and referendum was wrong, but when he found he was wrong, he was not ashamed to say so."

OWNERS OF LAKE BOATS HIT

Union Official Asserts Crews on Vessels Are Too Small.

Washington, March 12.—Victor Olander of Chicago, secretary of the Great Lakes Seamen's union, testifying before the house marine committee in behalf of the La Follette seamen's bill, charged that excursion steamers on the great lakes carried crews too small for manning lifeboats and that the inspection service was inclined to be influenced by the steamship companies. He cited the case of one ship certificated to carry 250 passengers in winter and 1,617 in summer, which was permitted to carry 3,600 passengers within five miles of land.

The vessel, he said, was required to carry only five deck hands, though it generally carried eighteen, and all its boats could not be launched at once.

SIEGEL AND VOGEL THrice INDICTED

Grand Larceny Charged Against Partners in New York Private Bank.

BOTH HELD IN $25,000 BAIL

Allegation Made That Deposits Were Received While Insolvent—Angry Depositors Seek Banker After Being Ousted.

New York, March 12.—Henry Siegel and Frank E. Vogel, thrice indicted for grand larceny, were held in $25,000 bail each by Judge Rosalsky in the general session. Two accusations charging the men with accepting deposits in the private bank of Henry Siegel & Co. after it was insolvent are in the first two indictments, while the third charges them with obtaining $25,000 from the National Bank of Commerce on the strength of a false statement as to the financial condition of the Fourteenth street store. They neglected to mention an indebtedness of about $1,500.00 to various interests.

Both men surrendered, entered pleas of not guilty and were released under bonds of $25,000 each. They were given until March 18 to change their pleas.

Three hundred angry depositors who had been forcibly ejected from the bankruptcy hearing hunted around the federal building for Siegel in vain. At the time they were looking for him to ask him some questions he and his banking partner were standing before Judge Rosalsky pleading "not guilty."

Charge Involves Loan.

One of the indictments charges Siegel and Vogel with grand larceny, in that they made false statement to the Bank of Commerce in order to borrow $25,000. The other indictment alleges that the two bankers accepted deposits when they knew the bank of Henry Siegel & Co. to be insolvent.

The indictments by no means end the proceedings of the grand jury. It is alleged that an investigation by the district attorney's office has disclosed discrepancies of nearly $2,000,000 between the books of the Siegel stores and banking enterprises and the financial statement used as a basis of additional credits before the failure. It is said the total of the discrepancies may even reach a higher figure.

Siegel testified on the stand at the bankruptcy proceedings that he did not invest capital in the private bank that bore his name.

Salary Totaled $3,000 a Month.

Siegel testified that he and Vogel filed a bond and purchased fixtures for the bank. Then, he admitted, they accepted deposits and made them act as a floating capital for the bank.

Siegel said he had life insurance policies made in favor of his daughter to the amount of $50,000. In regard to his partnership with Vogel in the private bank he said he and his partner had an agreement to divide the profits at the end of each year. He said his salary from the Simpson & Crawford store in New York was $1,000 a month; from the Fourteenth street store, also in New York, $750 a month, and from the store in Chicago, $1,200 a month.

Wife's Expenses Large.

His wife, he said, spent most of the $46,000 a year necessary for his living expenses. This represented his total income.

When Siegel's attorney during the examination whispered to him that indictments had been returned Siegel turned pale and from then on he stammered out his answers to questions.

Siegel and Vogel were taken to the ground floor of the building in a private elevator in order that they might dodge the mob of depositors.

MISSING MAN IS AT MORGUE

Body of Laborer Identified as That of Chicago Lawyer.

Cudahy, Wis., March 12.—The body of a day laborer lay on a slab in a morgue at Cudahy, Wis. He was a man of middle age, but a life of privation and grinding physical labor had made him look like an old man. A woman, finely dressed, entered the morgue. "Yes," she said, "this is Horace. He is greatly changed, but I could not mistake him."

This identification cleared up much of a 12 years' mystery. Horace Greeley Clarke was a nephew of the late Samuel J. Kirkwood, war governor of Iowa. Twelve years ago he was a prosperous Chicago lawyer and board of trade operator, just happily married and with the world before him. On June 28, 1902, he and his bride took passage on a boat bound from Chicago to Milwaukee. Just before the vessel stopped at Racine Mrs. Clarke missed her husband. So far as is known she never saw him afterward; he vanished out of her life as completely as if he had been obliterated.

Rob Restaurant; Escape in Auto.

Youngstown, O., March 12.—Three men entered the American restaurant here, pointed revolvers at the employees and persons who were eating there, driving them into the kitchen, then took $60 from the cash register. The thieves, who overlooked diamonds worth several hundred dollars, escaped in an automobile.

TANGO SKATING, A NEW WINTER SPORT.

BRIEF EXPLANATION. . . In which the arrows in the barometer readings indicate at a glance the movement of the barometer. The third arrow particularly indicates the weather changes. If this arrow points upwardly fair weather will follow, and foul weather if it points downwardly. The difference between the height to which it points and to which the other two point indicates the rapidity of the impending change. It will not be long before you understand it.

"MOST MARRIAGES ARE FOUNDED ON PLATONIC LOVE
—ON THE BRIDE'S PART" SAYS KATHERINE GREY

"Are marriages founded on platonic love justifiable?" Katherine Grey, the accomplished and intellectual actress, was asked. Miss Grey is the star of "The Rule of 3," a new farce, in which she manages two ex-husbands and one real husband. She does it successfully.

"Am I really the first man you ever loved?" demands her third husband. "The love with the other two was purely platonic." "The question whether or not platonic marriages are justifiable is not the important question," said Miss Grey. "The important fact is that most of them are platonic, on the part of the brides, at least. It doesn't make any difference whether they are or not to be justified, they will continue."

"Most women," she continued, "wed for a home and independence of their parents or guardians, for a chance to be some one in a world of their own."

"They like their husbands of course. They pick out the kind of men they can like. But most of the love is on the husband's part. The brides make a great pretense of love. Some of them do love; others learn to love after they are married—if the husbands are gallant enough to make them learn."

"In Europe there isn't even the pretense of love, most marriages being settled by parents. Girls don't see enough of their fiancés before marriage to learn to love them unless it is a case of love at first sight. Some of them learn to love their husbands later, and some learn to love other women's husbands."

Miss Grey spends her leisure hours reading Kant and Hegel, dotes on Lamartine, and adores Hymans. But Miss Grey sees nothing in this to surprise one. According to her own Hegel, life is a system of contraries, and for a thing to be true, its opposite must also be true.

At noon nineteen members and seven visitors responded to the invitation to repair to the dining room, and all beheld tables groaning beneath the weight of all. After all viands provided by all. After all had done ample justice to the dinner the sewing room was again sought and each finished the garment she had begun. After this the business meeting was called to order by the president. It opened with a song, Miss Ora Floto presiding at the organ. The usual amount of business was transacted and the minutes of the last meeting were read, after which the meeting closed. Miss Floto leading in song. At a late hour all departed for their homes, voting Mrs. Morris a splendid entertainer. The next meeting will be held with Mrs. Wash Miller on the Daysville Road on March 25th.

MOON IN THE SHADOW OF EARTH LAST EVE

ALMOST TOTAL ECLIPSE LAST EVENING—A BEAUTIFUL SIGHT.

The first of this year's two eclipses of the moon occurred last night. Those who failed to glance toward the moon at about 10 o'clock missed a beautiful sight. As the sky was perfectly clear those who were up at that time and were on the lookout for the astronomical phenomenon were well rewarded. At about 10:12 more than nine-tenths of the moon's diameter was in the shadow. At 8:41 yesterday evening the moon entered the earth's shadow and left at 12:44 this morning. Another eclipse of the moon will occur Sept. 4, which, however, will be visible, in this country, on the Pacific coast only.

It seems strange that it never occurred to the ancients in their observations of the moon's eclipses that the earth was round. Last night a few minutes after ten there was but a small crescent of the moon visible and clearly showing the rotundity of the earth.

LECTURE TONIGHT.

The first of the series of stereopticon lectures will be given at the Baptist church this evening at 7:45, on "The North American Indians." The public is cordially invited to see the pictures which show the present-day life and activities of the race that used to roam over the picturesque hills of Lee county and almost worship at the feet of Father Dixon.

WRECK AT LA SALLE DELAYS PASSENGERS

NORTHBOUND TRAINS DID NOT REACH DIXON UNTIL AFTER MIDNIGHT LAST NIGHT.

A bad freight wreck south of LaSalle, in which a number of freight cars were piled up across the tracks, seriously delayed northbound traffic on the Illinois Central last evening. The passenger train due in Dixon at 5:30 was forced to detour around the wreck and did not arrive until after midnight, while the 9:05 passenger did not get here until 7:10 this morning.

Y. M. C. A. LADIES' ELECT OFFICERS

YEARLY REPORT TURNED IN YESTERDAY VERY SATISFACTORY—OFFICERS ELECTED.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A. held a meeting yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. R. Snyder and the annual election of officers was the most important feature of the meeting. The yearly reports turned in showed a gratifying and satisfactory summing up of the year's work. The officers elected for the ensuing year to govern the auxiliary in its good work are as follows:

President, Mrs. Lyman Booth; 1st vice president, Mrs. W. R. Snyder; 2nd vice president, Mrs. Jerry Raymond; secretary, Mrs. E. T. Bailey; treasurer, Mrs. Wm. Beier.

LICENSED TO WED

John M. Longman of Pine Creek township and Miss Ruth Kime of Dixon received a license to wed today.

DEMENTTOWN

Women may dislike to tell their ages when they vote, but we know a couple whom we bet would rather tell their ages than their weight. How a lot of those Mexicans must be laughing in their sleeves—wondering if those who are watchfully waiting can see them do it.

The only difference between a man and a cake of yeast is that the cake of yeast can raise the dough any time. We all agree that pluck is essential to success—but the trouble is to find someone to pluck. Ladies, take heed. If your new hired girl doesn't make some kick or threaten to leave within six weeks after you've secured her, it's time to commence an investigation. She's probably in love with your husband.

There are a lot of us to whom the raising of our dog tax is a more serious question than the income tax. We pity—after personal experience—the poor bachelor who makes a bad break at the dinner table, because he has no wife to kick him on the shins.

Music Hath Charms.
George Slothower, manager of the Princess and one of the most popular young men of our fair city, believes in giving his patrons a happy surprise whenever the opportunity presents; therefore he thought he was going to pull something nice Tuesday night when he hired an itinerant violinist to assist the orchestra.

The fellow did well, too, and pleased the audience—until the picture showed a little girl burying her father. The patrons, however, failed to grasp the appropriateness of his selections when, during this scene, the fellow hit 'em up on "Bob bin' up and down." "He'll Have to Get Out, Get Out and Get Under." "Don't You Wish Yuh Were Back Home Again?"

MORALITY IN THE PICTURES.

Vice can and should be kept out of the moving pictures. Chicago is having her troubles in trying to keep the "movies" clean and wholesome and scenes of murder, robbery, underworld life, etc., are being kept from the films.

The manufacturers want to make money and they adopt plans that bring it in the fastest, irrespective of the effect their pictures may have upon the public. They are cashing in on the morbid curiosity and are draining the moral cream from the minds of the younger patrons of the nickel theatre. Nor are these mushy pictures of calf-love of any great benefit to the minds of young boys and girls who see them and hear people laugh at them, and come to believe that the antics of the heroes and heroines in the pictures are the proper thing in polite society.

The moving pictures shows are a grand good thing and they are very popular, and their popularity is the reason why they must be clean and contain a good influence. They will be just as much, and more, in favor if their tone is higher and their responsibility is getting to be nearly as great as that of newspapers. Clean journalism is vindicating itself by winning the public favor against the sensational, mud-slinging sort, and clean "movies" will be just as profitable.

The moving picture shows in Dixon are carefully censored by the owners of the playhouses, and there has been no complaint of them, but we would give them friendly advice to never let their watchfulness wane, for Dixon is critical and jealous of its high standard in all things.

LINCOLN HIGHWAY HAS MANY FRIENDS.

There are many, many voters in Dixon township who are anxious to get a chance to vote in favor of a bond issue for this township to build a concrete or brick roadway across from one line of the town to the other, along the route of the Lincoln highway. They feel that the Lincoln highway is one of the most important things to be considered at present and that the part of it that runs through Lee county, and particularly this township, should be completed during the immediate future.

We find that the majority of the people we have approached on the subject are in favor of having the project put through this summer, while enthusiasm is at its height and before the rush of trans-continental travel to and from the California exposition begins next year. If we wait until there are no taxes to pay on other improvements we will wait a long time.

PRESIDENT WILSON KNOWS HIS OWN MIND.

With all their clamor they do not seem to fluster the complacency of the gentleman who is at present piloting the affairs of the United States, Mr. Woodrow Wilson, President. When he decides to adopt a policy of watchful waiting on the Mexican situation, he waits and he watches whether the rest of us like it or not, and the people who believed the democrats were electing a mollyroddle school teacher who would be a weak president were happily mistaken. He may not be right—many believe he is wrong, but he knows what he wants when he wants it and all Pandemonium can't budge him an inch. A man like that commands respect, if not admiration.

A MORAL RIGHT.

We cannot just understand why the relatives of a man who has died in Mexico, whether he has died of pneumonia or a bowie knife, are not entitled to the body of their dead. When a man has been murdered his enemies have done their worst, and his widow has a right to the wreck of her love. They say the Texas rangers did not go into Mexico after the body of Vergara, but if they did, and if he was foully murdered, as they say, we are inclined to shout "bravo" for the boys who rode in and got what was left of their brother American.

GET OUT YOUR SWATTER.

Attention, Soldiers of the Republic! In times of peace, etc., etc. Swat the fly, and swat to kill! Swat them early and there will not be so much swatting to do later on. A fly swatted early in the season means the decrease in the season's output by, we don't know how many millions—it's a plenty. If you love your home and life and health, swat early and fast, and with precision. The flies are not here yet, but they soon will be, and when they come, meet them with the sticky paper and the wire screen swatter and discourage them in every way you can.

KINDERGARTEN NEEDED IN DIXON.

The North Dixon schools are away in advance of the public schools on the south side of the river in the matter of a kindergarten. We hope another year will bring this needed institution into the Dixon schools. The kindergarten is a wonderfully fine thing for the kiddies and for the mothers, and very few cities the size of Dixon are without them.

A Missouri newspaper says that an Audrian county woman raised 3000 bushels of corn, 500 bushels of oats, ten wagon loads of pumpkins, nine children and a shiftless husband, all on eighty acres of land; but they neglect to say how long it took to do this. With plenty of time, the task should be easy. Many have done better.

Fatigue

By WALT MASON

The gossips are a noisome bunch who play an ugly game; they'd leave the finest Waldorf lunch to mangle some one's fame. They're prone to injure all they touch, with their long tongues and jaws, and yet they cannot hurt you much unless you give them cause. The man whose life is circumspect, who minds the Golden Rule, won't see his reputation wrecked by any prating fool. And those who suffer most from talk quite often are the guys who hear a tale and walk a block to put the neighbors wise. I often say, with Virtue's tongue, "The gossips I abhor," and then I tell how Sandy Bung ran off with Mandy Dorr. The noxious deeds that others spring we righteously despise, and then we do the self same thing, dad bust our pious eyes! We all are gossips, more or less; with glee we trot along to tell about our fake distress when some good man's gone wrong. On Smith and Jones we're keeping tab, and if they make a break, we'll stand around the streets and gab until our windpipes ache. So when we roast the gossip vile who deep in scandal delves, 'twere well to pause a little while and just size up ourselves.

ARGUMENT OVER THE SUMMER BALL PLAYER

MAJORITY OF UNIVERSITIES DECLARE AGAINST STUDENTS WHO PLAY FOR MONEY.

OTHER COLLEGE SPORT NOTES

Western Colleges.
Harvard Will Have New Gymnasium—Stadium Fever Spreading Over

(By the Associated Press)
New York, March 12.—That the status of the collegian who plays summer baseball will remain unchanged at the leading eastern colleges and universities appears a certainty from recent statements issued by those in positions of authority. Notwithstanding that a number of varsity team captains have publicly stated their belief that a student may play baseball for money or other inducements during summer vacation and still preserve his amateur athletic status while in college, these Utopian days are not for the present world of undergraduate sport.

A consensus of opinion among the athletic governing bodies, university faculties and prominent amateur athletic authorities shows an overwhelming majority against the innovation which would permit a baseball player to jump from amateur to professional ranks and back again according to the calendar of his college. A recent canvass of the institutions whose baseball teams appear on the Amherst schedule, undertaken by the official organ of that institution, indicates that of eleven colleges, including Harvard, Yale, Princeton, Dartmouth, Williams, Wesleyan, Columbia, Brown and Y. M. C. A. College but two, Tufts and Massachusetts Agricultural college, favor the summer baseball. Three colleges, Yale, Tufts and Y. M. C. A. are non-committal and six, Harvard, Princeton, Dartmouth, Williams, Wesleyan and Columbia, have definite rules prohibiting summer baseball. Harvard authorities call attention to the fact that Harvard has entered into no agreement to permit summer ball in spite of reports to the contrary, based on opinions of the captains, that Yale, Harvard and Princeton contemplated such a move.

"No student who has played on a semi-professional nine shall represent the university in any other athletic contest until he has received special permission from the committee. Any technical violation of this rule shall be judged by the committee."

Speaking of the rule, Dean Briggs wrote, "So far as I know we have no intention of changing it." He also adds, "I wonder whether you ever communicated with a former Amherst player named Kane. He was an extraordinary pitcher in his day, played summer ball and was, I believe, either directly or indirectly the cause of a falling out between Amherst and another New England college, which objected to him on the score that he was a professional. Dr. Raycroft states that at Princeton "Complete opposition describes their attitude toward summer baseball and the tendency of collegemen to take up professional baseball after graduation."

Dr. Fauver of Wesleyan University wrote: "Our college is opposed to collegemen taking part in summer baseball." Their reasons are as follows:

"We are opposed to summer baseball on moral grounds. Students who engage in summer baseball usually do little else and are thus subjected to temptations which many cannot resist. I could give you definite illustrations of the fact not only of Wesleyan but of men from other colleges."

Dr. Anderson says of the Yale situation:

"The college has taken no definite stand on the question of summer baseball. The Athletic association, however, is governed by rules of the I. A. A. which is against professionalism. They made consistent efforts to maintain purity in sports. I enclose clippings which will give you some idea of the attitude of President Hadley and Captain Blossom. They show that President Hadley is unconditionally opposed and Capt. Blossom is in favor of summer baseball."

Stadium Fever Spreading.

The stadium fever is spreading westward. The University of Michigan is about to step in line and put up a reinforced concrete structure along the lines of the new building at Lehigh and Cornell. This new foot ball amphitheatre was made practical by certain at a meeting of the board in control of athletics, when that body expressed itself favorably to tentative sketches and plans prepared which had previously been examined and accepted by the board of regents.

As prepared the plans for the concrete stand will call for the erection of a structure which will eventually form a component part of a stadium modeled after that of Harvard university.

Predict Stamford Victory.

The first track and field meet prophecy of the new year comes from the Pacific coast where Trainer Walter Christie of the University of California squad predicts that the Stamford university team will defeat the Berkeley athletics by a score of about 61 to 56 points.

The agitation for a new and modern gymnasium at Harvard appears to have the desired effect. President Lowell recently gave his sanction to the movement and a graduate committee has begun a campaign to obtain the funds necessary. Undergraduate committees have been at work over a year collecting subscriptions from the students. The graduate committee will probably include the alumni members who have been actively interested in the Harvard athletics.

The new building will be so large that it will be impossible to use the site of the present Hemenway gymnasium. The committee will attempt to raise a million dollars, six-tenths of which will be used in the construction of the building and the rest a maintenance fund.

TROOPS TO TEXAS TO PREVENT RAIDS

Two More Regiments to Border Patrol to Forestall Mexican Thievery.

GEN. DIAZ IN WASHINGTON

Bryan and Carranza Said to Have Reached Agreement on Settling Outrages on Foreigners—American Held for Ransom.

Washington, March 12.—Dispatch of two additional regiments of American infantry to Eagle Pass and Laredo, Tex., to allay fears of raids by Mexicans and the appearance here of Gen. Felix Diaz and friends with a new plan to solve the Mexican problem were the chief developments in the Mexican situation.

It is presumed that Diaz purposes to acquaint the president and congress with his plan so that he will be recognized if he can organize an independent revolution and suppress both Huerta and Carranza.

The additional troops, the Ninth and Seventeenth regiments, were ordered to the border at the request of Senator Shepperd and Representative Garner.

Garner Tells of Thefts.

The latter told the president there was a good deal of money in the border banks and Americans wanted to be protected against any sudden raid or invasion which might result from sensational over-night developments at any time. Mr. Garner also said many cattle had disappeared lately and residents believed Mexicans were responsible. The request for additional troops was made Monday; was discussed at the cabinet meeting and decided on by the president, who communicated his approval to the secretary of war.

Tell Part of Diaz Plan.

General Diaz and his friends said they would announce their purposes this week. All denied that they were now seeking support or sanction for any revolutionary movement, saying their idea chiefly was a campaign of information about Mexico and to acquaint Washington with the personality of Diaz so that his part in subsequent events in Mexico might be judged from study at close range.

18,000 Troops at Border.

The orders for the dispatch of two more regiments to Texas will result in the assembly in that state of nearly 18,000 troops, 3,000 more than the entire force of the regular army which General Shafter led into Cuba.

Carranza Answers Bryan.

Agua Prieta, March 12.—A satisfactory understanding between Secretary Bryan and General Carranza was shadowed as a result of an exchange of notes. Carranza placed in the hands of Consul Simplic a reply to a long letter from Mr. Bryan that explained the United States' attitude in the Benton case. Although Carranza's reply was not made public, it is believed he will recede from his position in the Benton case and give the American government information which he once said could be obtained only by the British government direct.

Curbs Villa Confiscations.

Chihuahua, March 12.—To prevent such mistakes as that made when Villa seized the 3,000-acre ranch of Gen. W. B. Smyth, a British subject, only to return it to the owner, General Carranza has decided on a commission to review the evidence in the case of seizure or contemplated seizure of property by the rebels. The commission will prevent Villa from confiscating property at will and assure the justice of confiscations based on enmity to the rebel cause. The case of the Terrazas estates may come before the commission. The military government has issued a decree of distribution of public lands among soldiers of the revolution, disabled veterans of the Madero revolt and widows and orphans of the two wars. Each will get a farm of 62 acres.

Arrests American for Ransom.

Culiacan, Sinaloa, March 12.—J. O. H. Newby, an American mining engineer, has been put into jail and a ransom of $1,500 demanded by Colonel Iturbe, a rebel.

BANDITS KILL MISSIONARY

Chinese Sack and Burn City of Lao Ho-Kow—Loot American Building.

Pekin, March 12.—Brigands sacked and burned the city of Lao Ho-Kow, killed Dr. T. Froyland, a Norwegian missionary, and wounded several other foreigners, including Rev. O. M. Sama, another Norwegian. A force of 500 brigands obtained entrance to the city by means of treachery. They plied torch and sword all round. They burned the Asiatic petroleum and the Singer buildings, and looted the British and American Tobacco company's premises.

Athletics Trim Minor Team.

Jacksonville, Fla., March 12.—The Philadelphia Athletics, world's champions, defeated the Jacksonville South Atlantic league team here 6 to 3. The batteries were: Bender, Durning, Wyckoff and Schrang and Lapp for Philadelphia; Coles and Cuto for Jacksonville.

The Abysmal Brute

By JACK LONDON

Copyright, 1913, by The Century Co.

"She and the old man fell out, had a tiff or something, about the time he started to clean up San Francisco. She quit, that's all—left home and got a job. And let me tell you one thing, Pat. She can everlastingly sling English. There isn't a pen pusher on the coast can touch her when she gets going."

Pat began to show interest, and Stubener hurried on:

"She writes poetry, too, the regular ladedah stuff, just like you, only I guess hers is better, because she published a whole book of it once. And she writes up the shows. She interviews every big actor that hits this burg."

"I've seen her name in the papers," Pat commented.

"Sure you have. And you're honored, Pat, by her coming to interview you. It won't bother you any. I'll stick right by and give her most of the dope myself. You know I've always done that."

Pat looked his gratitude.

"And another thing, Pat, don't forget you've got to put up with this interviewing. It's part of your business. It's big advertising, and it comes free. We can't buy it. It interests people, draws the crowds, and it's crowds that pile up the gate receipts."

He stopped and listened, then looked at his watch. "I think that's her now. I'll go and get her and bring her in. I'll tip it off to her to cut it short, you know, and it won't take long." He turned in the doorway. "And be decent, Pat. Don't shut up like a clam. Talk a bit to her when she asks you questions."

Pat put the sonnets on the table, took up a newspaper and was apparently deep in its contents when the two entered the room and he stood up. The meeting was a mutual shock.

When blue eyes met gray it was almost as if the man and the woman shouted triumphantly to each other, as if each had found something sought and unexpected. But this was for the instant only.

Each had anticipated in the other something so totally different that the next moment the clear cry of recognition gave way to confusion.

As is the way of women, she was the first to achieve control, and she did it without having given any outward sign that she had ever lost it. She advanced most of the distance across the floor to meet Glendon. As for him, he scarcely knew how he stumbled through the introduction.

Here was a woman—a woman. He had not known that such a creature could exist. The few women he had noticed had never prefigured this. He wondered what old Pat's judgment would have been of her; if she was the sort he had recommended to hang on to with both hands.

He discovered that in some way he was holding her hand. He looked at it, curious and fascinated, marveling at its fragility.

She, on the other hand, had proceeded to obliterate the echoes of that first clear call. It had been a peculiar experience, that was all, this sudden outburst of her toward this strange man.

For was not he the abysmal brute of the prize ring, the great, fighting, stupid bulk of a male animal who hammered up his fellow males of the same stupid order? She smiled at the way he continued to hold her hand.

"I'll have it back, please, Mr. Glendon," she said. "I—I really need it, you know."

He looked at her blankly, followed her gaze to her imprisoned hand, and dropped it in a rush of awkwardness that sent the blood in a manifest blush to his face.

She noted the blush, and the thought came to her that he did not seem quite the uncouth brute she had pictured. She could not conceive of a brute blushing at anything.

And also, she found herself pleased with the fact that he lacked the easy glibness to murmur an apology. But the way he devoured her with his eyes was disconcerting.

He stared at her as if in a trance, while his cheeks flushed even more redly.

Stubener by this time had fetched a chair for her, and Glendon automatically sank down into his.

"He's in fine shape, Miss Sangster, in fine shape," the manager was saying. "That's right, isn't it, Pat? Never felt better in your life?"

Glendon was bothered by this. His brows contracted in a troubled way, and he made no reply.

"I've wanted to meet you for a long time, Mr. Glendon," Miss Sangster

"I'll have it back, please, Mr. Glendon," she said.

said. "I never interviewed a pugilist before, so if I don't go about it expertly you'll forgive me. I am sure."

"Maybe you'd better start in by seeing him in action," was the manager's suggestion. "While he's getting into his fighting togs I can tell you a lot about him—fresh stuff too. We'll call in Walsh, Pat, and go a couple of rounds."

"We'll do nothing of the sort," Glendon growled roughly. In just the way an abysmal brute should. "Go ahead with the interview."

The business went ahead unsatisfactorily. Stubener did most of the talking and suggesting, which was sufficient to irritate Maud Sangster, while Pat volunteered nothing.

She studied his fine countenance, the eyes clear blue and wide apart, the well modeled, almost aquiline, nose, the firm, chaste lips that were sweet in a masculine way in their curl at the corners and that gave no hint of any sullenness.

It was a baffling personality, she concluded, if what the papers said of him was so. In vain she sought for earmarks of the brute. And in vain she attempted to establish contacts.

For one thing, she knew too little about prizefighters and the ring, and whenever she opened up a lead it was promptly snatched away by the information oozing Stubener.

"It must be most interesting, this life of a pugilist," she said once, adding with a sigh: "I wish I knew more about it. Tell me, why do you fight? Oh, aside from money reasons." (This latter to forestall Stubener.) "Do you enjoy fighting? Are you stirred by it, by pitting yourself against other men? I hardly know how to express what I mean, so you must be patient with me."

Pat and Stubener began speaking together, but for once Pat bore his manager down.

"I didn't care for it at first"—

"You see, it was too dead easy for him," Stubener interrupted.

"But later," Pat went on, "when I encountered the better fighters, the real big, clever ones, where I was more"

"On your mettle," she suggested.

"Yes, that's it; more on my mettle. I found I did care for it—a great deal, in fact. But still it's not so absorbing to me as it might be. You see, while each battle is a sort of problem which I must work out with my wits and muscle, yet to me the issue is never in doubt."

"He's never had a fight go to a decision," Stubener proclaimed. "He's won every battle by the knockout route."

"And it's this certainty of the outcome that robs it of what I imagine must be its finest thrills," Pat concluded.

"Maybe you'll get some of them thrills when you go up against Jim Hanford," said the manager.

Pat smiled, but did not speak.

"Tell me some more," she urged—"more about the way you feel when you are fighting."

And then Pat amazed his manager, Miss Sangster and himself by blurring out:

"It seems to me I don't want to talk with you on such things. It's as if there are things more important for you and me to talk about. I"—

He stopped abruptly, aware of what he was saying, but unaware of why he was saying it.

"Yes," she cried eagerly. "That's it. That is what makes a good interview—the real personality, you know."

But Pat remained tongue tied, and Stubener wandered away on a statistical comparison of his champion's weights, measurements and expansions with those of Sandow, the Terrible Turk, Jeffries and the other modern strong men. This was of little interest to Maud Sangster, and she showed that she was bored. Her eyes chanced to rest on the sonnets. She picked the book up and glanced inquiringly at Stubener.

"That's Pat's," he said. "He goes in for that kind of stuff and color photography and art exhibits and such things. But for heaven's sake don't publish anything about it. It would ruin his reputation."

CHAPTER VII.

SHE looked accusingly at Glendon, who immediately became awkward. To her it was delicious—a shy young man with the body of a giant who was one of the kings of bruisers and who read poetry and went to art exhibits and experimented with color photography!

Of a surety there was no abysmal brute here. His very shyness, she divined now, was due to sensitiveness and not stupidity. Shakespeare's "Sonnets!"

This was a phase that would bear investigation. But Stubener stole the opportunity away and was back chanting his everlasting statistics.

A few minutes later and most unwittingly she opened up the biggest lead of all. That first sharp attraction toward him had begun to stir again after the discovery of the "Sonnets."

The magnificent frame of his, the handsome face, the chaste lips, the clear looking eyes, the fine forehead which the short crop of blond hair did not hide, the aura of physical well being and cleanliness which he seemed to emanate—all this and more that she sensed drew her as she had never been drawn by any man, and yet through her mind kept running the nasty rumors that she had heard only the day before at the Courier-Journal office.

"You were right," she said. "There is something more important to talk about. There is something in my mind I want you to reconcile for me. Do you mind?"

Pat shook his head.

"If I am frank—abominably frank? I've heard the men, sometimes, talking of particular fights and of the betting odds, and, while I gave no heed to it at the time, it seemed to me it was firmly agreed that there was a great deal of trickery and cheating connected with the sport. Now, when I look at you, for instance, I find it hard to understand how you can be a party to such cheating. I can understand your liking the sport for a sport, as well as for the money it brings you, but I can't understand"—

"There's nothing to understand," Stubener broke in, while Pat's lips were wreathed in a gentle, tolerant smile. "It's all fairly tame, this talk about faking, about fixed fights, and all that rot. There's nothing to it, Miss Sangster, I assure you. And now let me tell you about how I discovered Mr. Glendon. It was a letter I got from his father!"

But Maud Sangster refused to be sidetracked, and addressed herself to Pat.

"Listen. I remember one case particularly. It was some fight that took place several months ago—I forget the contestants. One of the editors of the Courier-Journal told me he intended to make a good winning. He didn't hope; he said he intended. He said he was on the inside and was betting on the number of rounds. He told me the fight would end in the nineteenth. This was the night before."

"And the next day he triumphantly called my attention to the fact that it had ended in that very round. I didn't think anything of it one way or the other. I was not interested in prizefighting then. But I am now. At the time it seemed quite in accord with the vague conception I had about fighting. So you see it isn't all fairy tales, is it?"

"I know that fight," Glendon said. "It was Owen and Murgweather. And it did end in the nineteenth round. Sam. And she said she heard that round named the day before. How do you account for it, Sam?"

"How do you account for a man picking a lucky lottery ticket?" the manager evaded, while getting his wits together to answer. "That's the very point. Men who study form and condition and seconds and rules and such things often pick the number of rounds, just as men have been known to pick hundred to one shots in the races. And don't forget one thing, for every man that wins there's another that loses, there's another that didn't pick right. Miss Sangster, I assure you, on my honor, that faking and fixing in the fight game is—is nonexistent."

"What is your opinion, Mr. Glendon?" she asked.

"The same as mine," Stubener snatched the answer. "He knows what I say is true, every word of it. He's never fought anything but a straight fight in his life. Isn't that right, Pat?"

"Yes, it's right," Pat affirmed; and the peculiar thing to Maud Sangster was that she was convinced he spoke the truth.

She brushed her forehead with her hand, as if to rid herself of the bewilderment that clouded her brain.

"Listen," she said. "Last night the same editor told me that your forthcoming fight was arranged to the very round in which it would end."

Stubener was verging on a panic, but Pat's speech saved him from replying.

"Then the editor lies," Pat's voice boomed now for the first time.

"He did not lie before, about that other fight," she challenged.

"What round did he say my fight with Nat Powers would end in?"

Before she could answer the manager was into the thick of it.

"Oh, rats, Pat!" he cried. "Shut up. It's only the regular run of ring rumors. Let's get on with this interview."

Torment of Cold.
I thank heaven that I know what it is to be cold; to be cold from the crown of the head to the sole of the foot, to be cold from the cuticle to the heart, and from the heart to the soul; I thank heaven for it, because, knowing this, I have a new revelation of the possibility of suffering, and I am able to find a paradise in a common wood fire.

Knowing this, I declare to you there is not a more pathetic sight in the world than a poor man who is thoroughly cold from week to week. It is the refinement of torture.

It does not gnaw like hunger; which presently becomes a sort of insanity and relieves itself; it is a dead, unblest, icy torment. I used to see men in the army whose silent endurance of cold brought more tears to my eyes than all the hunger and all the wounds.—Sidney Lanier.

Family and Morals.
All theories of the origin and development of morals agree on one point, that the family is the root out of which sympathy and the social virtues have grown, however religion and social laws may have varied. What is right in married life is like that which is right in the larger life of society. What the strong find useful becomes a duty to the weak.

Although some morals have had a religious beginning, the morals that have sprung from life and its needs are the ones which have endured. Religious codes of morals have only remained important when they have adapted themselves to social life in its changing forms.—Ellen Key.

TRADE BODY BILL FRAMED BY HOUSE

Subcommittee Agrees on Makeup of Board and Its Manifold Duties.

BACKS UP WILSON PLAN

Commission of Three Members to Inherit Existing Powers of Corporations Bureau—Act Differs From Clayton Measure.

Washington, March 12.—The interstate trade commission bill, constituting an important link in the administration's legislative program for the regulation of big business, has been practically agreed on by the subcommittee charged with its preparation.

It will be submitted to the full committee on interstate commerce and, following the adoption of a favorable recommendation, reported to the house on Friday.

While the measure, as finally agreed on by the subcommittee, of which Representative Covington is chairman, differs radically from the Clayton interstate trade commission bill, it embodies all of the essentials desired by the president.

Board of Three Members.

The bill creates a commission of three members, to be appointed by the president, subject to the confirmation of the senate, at salaries of $10,000 a year each. It shall inherit all of the existing duties, powers and authority of the present bureau of corporations, also all papers, documents, records and property of the bureau.

While the principal office of the commission will be in Washington, the bill authorizes it to hold sessions anywhere in the United States.

It is provided that the several bureaus and departments of the government shall furnish the commission, upon request, all records, papers and information in their possession relating to any corporation subject to its jurisdiction.

Wide Latitude for Body.

The bill confers upon the commission authority to examine and the right to copy, at all times, any documentary evidence relating to any corporation being investigated, and upon application of the commission or the attorney general the courts of the United States shall have jurisdiction to issue writs of mandamus, compelling any person or corporation to comply with any lawful requirements made by the commission.

By direction of the president, the attorney general, or either house of congress, the commission shall institute investigations to ascertain whether corporations under investigation are violating the acts in restraint of trade.

May Pass on Equity Suits.

There is a provision empowering the commission to investigate matters referred to it involving any question arising in any litigation, or any proposed decree, growing out of any suit in equity brought by the attorney general.

The bill confers upon the commission the same powers conferred upon the interstate commerce commission, and makes it a crime punishable by a fine of $5,000 or three years' imprisonment for any person to make public any information obtained by the commission without its authority.

FREED OF SLAYING FIANCE

Chicago Woman Tells Story of Desecration and Wine Freedom.

Chicago, March 12.—Miss Stella Czerniewska was acquitted of the murder of her fiancé, Frank Koszczinski, by a jury in the court of Judge McDonald. The girl was charged with slaying Koszczinski after he had wronged her and had refused to keep his promise of marriage. Two ballots were taken and a little more than an hour passed in deliberation. The first ballot stood ten to two for acquittal. The second was unanimous for freeing the fair-haired girl who on the witness stand a few hours before had told in simple words the story of her mistreatment and of her unintentional revenge. Her defense was that Frank had been shot to death in a scuffle following her effort to kill herself at his feet.

Must Explain Failure to Arrest.

St. Louis, March 12.—Because he failed to arrest the receivers of the Wabash railroad for allowing liquor to be sold on Wabash trains passing through Clay county, Missouri, Sheriff Dickman of St. Louis has been ordered to answer a citation for contempt in the circuit court at Liberty, Mo., next Monday. The chief deputy sheriff said the warrants had been placed in the hands of a new deputy, who failed to make a return on them.

Shingle Mill Strike Ended.

Raymond, Wash., March 12.—A strike of shingle mill employes on Willapa Harbor, in effect since February 18, was settled through the mediation of T. W. Boyce of the department of labor. The men lost.

Thrown Onto Buzz Saw; Killed.

Alledo, Ill., March 12.—Omer Sheese, a wood sawyer, aged thirty-eight, was killed here when the fly wheel of his engine threw him on the revolving buzz saw.

Edward Gilmore is one of the Massachusetts Democrats who came to congress with the present administration. He is in the provision business at Brockton.

READY TO REPEL 'ARMY'

900 Hungry Men Desert Leader at Sacramento.

Threaten Citizens in Quest for Food and Residents Arm Themselves Against "Invaders."

Sacramento, Cal., March 12.—Desertion thinned the ranks of "General" Kelley's jobless army from 1,500 to 600. In consequence half the male population of Yolo county was on guard with guns last night to prevent the hungry "soldiers" from invading homes or destroying property in their efforts to get food.

The whole county was overrun with the hundreds of men who deserted Kelley, many appearing at various homes and obtaining food by means of threats.

When night fell the 600 "loyal" Industrial Workers of the World went to bed superfluous in shacks across the Sacramento river. Sacramento county had shut off its food supply and forbidden any person to convey food across the bridge to the army detained on its march to Washington.

Desertions began as soon as the county stopped supplying food. Sacramento to pass through this city. Half a dozen surrounding counties have served notice that they will meet with armed force any attempt to send the unemployed army across their lines.

Plans to ship the jobless in small groups in various directions, scattering them beyond hope of reorganization, fell flat. The railroad companies refused to carry them. There is a state law forbidding the transportation of undesirable citizens from one county to another.

CHURCH SEEKS EXEMPTION

Catholic Archbishop in Washington to Get Special Ruling on Taxes.

Washington, March 12.—The Catholic archbishop of Chicago is seeking a special ruling from the treasury department exempting the church and charitable organizations in that diocese from collecting at the source the income tax on interest payments of their mortgages and bonds. Senator Lewis and D. J. O'Connor of Chicago, who represents the Catholic archbishop in real estate transactions, will present the appeal to the department. Mr. O'Connor believes the ruling he seeks would be acceptable to all religious and charitable organizations in the country.

THREE WOMEN WIN AT POLLS

Voters of Aurora, Ill., Nominate Them for Office.

Aurora, Ill., March 12.—Three women were nominated for office in Aurora at the first election in which Aurora women have had the right to participate. Mrs. Abner Manning of 96 Oak avenue, tied with two men for the Progressive nomination for police magistrate. Mrs. Frank Crane, 212 Galena boulevard, was nominated as Democratic candidate for alderman in the Second ward, and Mrs. Katherine Kreitz, Sheridan street, is the People's party candidate for alderman in the Seventh ward.

St. Louis Teams in Tie.

St. Augustine, Fla., March 12.—The St. Louis Nationals and the St. Louis Americans played a tie game here, the score being 5 to 5. The contest was called at the end of the ninth inning on account of darkness. Both teams made six hits.

Denies Mail Fraud.

Boston, March 12.—Charles J. Fairfield, manager of the Eastern Mailing company of Springfield, pleaded not guilty to an indictment charging him with the illegal use of the mails.

GREAT MASS OF PROOF

Reports of 30,000 Cases of Kidney Trouble, Some of Them Dixon Cases.

Each of the 6,000 newspapers of the United States is publishing from week to week, names of people in its particular neighborhood, who have used and recommended Doan's Kidney Pills for kidney backache, weak kidneys, bladder troubles and urinary disorders. This mass of proof includes over 30,000 recommendations. Dixon is no exception. Here is one of the Dixon cases.

John Salzman, 103 Artesian Ave., Dixon, Ill., says: "I had backache a great deal and pains across my loins. My kidneys did not act regularly and I felt miserable in every way. Finally I used Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Leake Bros. Co.'s Drug Store and they did good work, relieving me. I keep them in the house and whenever I take them, they help me."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Salzman had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

CLAUDE L'ENGLE

Congressman L'Engle of Florida has presentatives providing for an appropriation of $15,000,000 to build a fleet of 1,000 aeroplanes for the use of the

WOULD END STRIKE

C. H. Moyer Recommends Referendum of Miners.

Vote on Plan to Be Taken by Copper
Workers—Colorado Troops Charged With Inhuman Acts.

Chicago, March 12.—The strike of the copper miners in the upper Michigan Copper country is practically at an end. Charles H. Moyer issued a statement in which he said that he would approve a referendum vote of the striking miners, and if that vote showed that they wished to return to work under the conditions the mining operators laid down he was willing and would sanction such action.

"The men could make their own individual terms with the mining companies," said Moyer.

Allen P. Rees senior counsel for the mining companies, said that the men would be taken back without prejudice upon surrendering their union cards and that places doubtless would be found for all except those who engaged in acts of violence and other lawlessness.

Calumet, Mich., March 11.—That there will be a referendum vote of local members of the Western Federation of Miners on the proposal to call off the strike which was started July 23, 1913, was announced by William Richard, president of the Calumet local of the union.

Washington, March 12.—Chairman
Foster of the house mines committee, which investigated the Colorado coal mine strike, received the following telegram from officers of the United Mine Workers in Colorado:

"Twenty-three members of the National Guard, under orders of Adjt.
Gen. John Chase, demolished strikers' tent colony at Forbes, Colo. Men, women and children are homeless in a blinding snow storm. Inhabitants of the upper tent colony ordered by the soldiers to leave their homes within forty-eight hours or be deported."

Mr. Foster said the committee was ready to report drastic recommendations to congress as soon as it could assemble its data. He asserted that while the committee did not feel satisfied that it had actual proof of peonage in the coal fields, it had striking evidence of men forced to flee over the mountains to escape the armed guards, and of tented cities over which members of the National Guard, in the pay of the mine companies, stand guard.

SET SUMMER MILK PRICES

Producers Open Books for Six Months' Contracts.

Chicago, March 12.—Chicago milk dealers declare that they see no reason for an advance in the price of milk this summer.

The statements were made after an announcement from Elgin that the contract books for the Chicago dairy territory will be opened today and the prices set for the six spring and summer months. The territory affected includes northern Illinois, southern Wisconsin and western Indiana. An average price of $1.50½ per hundred pounds to the manufacturers and $1.25 for eight gallons to the distributors has been asked by the Milk Producers' association.

LABOR SAFETY BUREAU WINS

Plan Embodied in Mann-Bremner
Measure Passes House.

Washington, March 12.—A bill providing for the creation of a bureau of labor safety in the department of labor was passed unanimously by the house of representatives. The measure embodies the provisions of bills introduced by Republican Leader
Mann and by the late Representative Bremner of New Jersey. It is proposed that the bureau investigate, test, and recommend the adoption of the most efficacious devices for reducing the hazard of various occupations.
The bill also provides for a museum of labor safety devices.

Evers Gets $25,000 Bonus.

Macon, Ga., March 12.—John J.
Evers, deposed manager of the Chicago National league baseball team, received a check for $25,000 as a bonus for signing a contract with the Boston Nationals.
